

GOLD SHINES FOREVER...

Its luster cannot be diminished.

It's the way he laid his sweet sugar face upon your lap and gazed into your eyes. That determination to jump onto your bed no matter how weak his legs. The look in her eyes whenever you whispered treasured words into precious ears that can no longer hear. And the language of love that tells us when it is time for our beloved pet to journey on.

These are the Golden Retrievers who are gone from our lives but never from our hearts. Faces that became speckled with white, brown eyes glinted with gold, bodies wearied from age and illness, but hearts still bursting with devotion and love.

That's the thing about Golden Retrievers. There is no leaving them. There are only memories that bring tears followed by joy and smiles.

They shine forever.
